

Rack-Out Plaque Sponsorship

For more than a century, the term “rack” has been used by US Navy sailors to describe their personal berths, or beds, aboard ships. This small (6ft. x 3ft.) rack was their only private space on the ship, and once assigned, would be their home for up to four years! Early racks were spartan (but comfortable) canvas hammocks strung from tube frames. Later, the Navy installed locker-style berths, known to sailors as “coffin racks.” Sailors who were assigned flat racks would also be allocated at least one foot locker.

Battleship IOWA is refurbishing dozens of racks throughout the proud and iconic warship. First Class Petty Officer, CPO berthing, and officer wardrooms are also slated for renovation. Now, for the first time in more than 20 years, Battleship IOWA is ready to reassign its racks!

Personalized plaques are renewed on an annual basis. Rack Sponsors can honor a veteran relative or Sponsors can honor a deceased IOWA veteran selected at random. Veterans can have their name, rank, branch and dates of service inscribed on a beautiful 5” x 2” brass plaque, at no extra charge. Rack Sponsors may elect to have their own name inscribed on the plaque, also free of charge.

IOWA is a big ship, but the berthing visible along the public tour route is very limited. Rack Out on IOWA is a unique opportunity to acquire a commemoration of your or your family’s commitment to preserve and honor an historic symbol of American naval might.

Please note: While all reasonable attempts will be made to accommodate special requests, Battleship IOWA cannot guarantee sponsorship of a particular rack or berthing compartment location. Each junior officer wardroom will feature two sponsors, unless otherwise agreed to by the Pacific Battleship Center and the sponsor. IOWA veterans may sponsor their own personal rack, and these racks may eventually feature their plaque(s) in addition to the plaque of a sponsor. Otherwise, the limit is one plaque per rack per sponsor. Pacific Battleship Center is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization; Tax ID 26-3934742. This sponsorship gift is fully tax-deductible, as you receive no goods or services of value.*
